SCENARIOS

Barbara Allen

It's 1813. You are amateur folklorists working as agents of the Crown. Across Britain, the folk ballads of the common people are coming to life. Where ballads are sung, sometimes the lyrics take hold of people, forcing them to act out the events of the song. Enchanted victims take on the roles of characters in the ballads. Imagery and danger from the songs manifest supernaturally. Your job, on behalf of the Prince Regent, is to anticipate these events, mitigate the damage they cause, and help people where you can.

Unnatural events dog the English village of Newton-on-the-Moor, all seemingly drawn from the traditional ballad "Barbara Allen." Can you decipher the clues in the song and save the village?
